

NEEWOLLAH '74

It was fifty-five Halloweens ago
In this urban-industrial town;
They took the name of Halloween
And turned it all around.

They planned a celebration
In between the tricks and treats;
To give the youngsters something to do
And keep them off the streets.

The fun went on for a dozen years,
Then it was stopped by the lack of cash
After the depression when things improved
They continued the yearly bash.

In '23 they picked a queen
To reign o'er the weekend fest.
And three years later they even tried
A hog-calling contest.

The three-day event grew in time and fun,
And talent appeared on our stages.
The local folks can show their stuff,
And famous stars please all ages.

The queens affair is exciting to all,
With interviews, dinners, and teas.
The pageant is full of elegant grace
With beauty that's sure to please.

The country show is a good idea
To bring more folks to our hall.
The lollies also spark the crowds
In this grand celebration of fall.

The parades are always a happy time
With laughter, floats, and bands.
The precision drills and funny clowns
Meet even the greatest demands.

Add a carnival to have some thrills,
Try some of the hot barbecue.
The cotton candy and apples are great
And the dances are much fun, too.

The whole affair can never be topped
In the eyes of all around.
The generalissimo and his help are cheered
By everyone in the town.

Leave your troubles behind and have some fun
With tricks and treats galore;
And see all that there is to see
Of Neewollah '74!

With great pride we present Neewollah '74. We hope that you feel that its the greatest one ever. I say we, because without a great board of directors, the many committee chairman, vice chairman, and their many helpers, Neewollah would not be possible.

With the support of you, our local and surrounding area citizens, we can keep Neewollah Kansas' Largest Celebration.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the UK, and the number of people with a mental health problem who are in contact with mental health services has also increased (Mental Health Act Commission 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with a mental health problem, and to reduce the stigma and discrimination that they experience. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of mental health promotion materials, and the development of mental health services that are more user-centred and more accessible.

One of the key areas of focus is the need to improve the lives of people with a mental health problem who are in contact with mental health services. This includes people who are in contact with mental health services through the criminal justice system, and people who are in contact with mental health services through the health care system.
